

PRIVACY NOTICE- JOB APPLICANTS

The following definitions apply in this Privacy Notice

This notice explains to you what information we will collect and hold about you and what we will do with it. It also explains your right and who to contact if you have any questions.

The following definitions apply in this privacy notice:

1. Who is the data controller?

The controller of the personal supplied by you is the moveero company that uses your data for the purpose of your application for a position with moveero.

2. What personal data do we collect and how?

You provide us information that we need as your potential employer, to run our business efficiently, to comply with legal and regulatory obligations and to liaise with regulatory or governmental authorities. We may also receive information as a result of background or screening checks, from your current employer or previous employers or from regulatory or governmental authorities.

3. What will we do with your personal data?

We collect and maintain personal data relating to you for the following purposes:

- Business necessity: including job title and contact details.
- Assess, consider and process any application you may make for any role or opportunity within moveero, whether through www.moveero.com or other methods.
- Contact you regarding other job vacancies or opportunities that arise within moveero that we think may interest you.
- Monitor the overall level of interest in job vacancies and opportunities to carry out analysis on these.

We have a legitimate interest in processing your personal data in order to run our business efficiently and comply with legal and regulatory obligations.

Where we process your personal data only on the basis of our legitimate interest, you have the right to object to our use of your personal data. However, we do not have to stop processing personal data where we have compelling grounds that override your interest, or where we need to process your data in order to establish, exercise or defend legal claims. If you have any objections, please contact the Data Protection Officer – details below.

We may also use your information to prepare for a potential contract with you, or because we have a legal obligation to do so and where these grounds apply, there is no right to object.

4 What are our obligations to collect and your obligations to provide personal data?

We have a statutory obligation to collect and process certain information about you, for example to determine your right to work in a particular country. You are not generally obliged to give us information about yourself, but in some cases, we may not be able to continue with application if you do not provide information that we request.

5. Will we share your personal data with someone else?

Your personal data may be shared with other companies in the moveero, for example, the employing company for the job role for which you apply or moveero companies that have other vacancies which may be of interest to you. Your personal data may also be transferred to professional advisors or other third parties who are used by us to assist us in the recruitment process or where we are legally obliged to disclose personal data.

These may be located in countries that are not deemed to provide a similar level of protection for individual's rights in relation to their personal data as in the European Economic Area (EEA).

If your personal data is transferred to a moveero group company or to an external service provider that process data on our behalf such a country, for your information will be covered by a data transfer agreement in a form approved by the European Commission. Further information, including copies of these agreements are available from the Data Protection Officer – see below.

6. For how long will we process your personal data?

We will process your personal data until you inform us that you are no longer interested in applying for a position at moveero. We will retain your personal data after that period in case you decide to apply for another role or one, we believe may be of interest to you arises, or for as long as necessary in case there is a legal claim that you may have against moveero. This period will be determined by local regulatory requirements and is set out in the local retention periods that are set by the recruiting moveero company. Further information is available from the Data Protection officer – see below.

7. What rights do you have in relation to your personal data?

You have a number of rights in relation to your personal data. These include the right, subject to exceptions to:

- Access your personal data
- Request the rectification or erasure of your personal data
- Request restrictions on the processing of your personal data

Please contact the Data Protection Office if you wish to exercise any of these rights.

From 25 May 2018, you also have the right in some circumstances to receive a copy of your personal data in a portable format e.g. Microsoft Excel. This right is limited to personal data that you have provided to us and is processed on the basis of your consent or to prepare for a contract with you. It does not cover personal data that we process on other grounds.

8. What if we have obtained your consent to use your personal data?

As previously noted, we process your personal data for our legitimate interest, to prepare for a potential contract with you, or to comply with a legal obligation.

If we obtain your consent for any other use of your personal data (which is likely to be for a purpose that is not described above) we will give you further information in the consent form on how to withdraw consent.

9. What to do if you have any queries?

If you have any queries about the way in which we process your personal data, you should contact:

Data Protection Officer
moveero ltd
Hadley Castle Works
Telford
TF1 6AA
United Kingdom
Or by email at: Data.Protection@moveero.com

You also have the right to complain to The Information Commissioner's Office You can do this by contacting 0303 123 1113.

